The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-6, 8-13, 15-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The term "diamond-type" is indefinite since "type" broadens "diamond" an indeterminate amount.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 1,4,5 (as dependent upon claims 1 and 4), 8, 11, 12 (as dependent upon claim 8 and 11), 15-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gellert et al. (US Patent 5,658,604).

Gellert et al. discloses a hot runner manifold 62, a nozzle 12 and a mold 14, the mold 14 defining a mold cavity 68 and a gate 66 into the mold cavity. The nozzle comprising a nozzle body, a tip 42 having a melt channel, and a nozzle seal 86 contacting the mold adjacent the gate such that the mold, the nozzle seal and the tip define an annular melt space adjacent the gate through which melt can flow from the tip melt channel to the gate. The tip 42 is made of a carbide alloy where the alloy acts as a diamond-type material due to its high resistance to corrosion and wear.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2,3, 5 (as dependent upon claims 2 and 3), 9,10, 12 (as dependent upon claims 9 and 10) are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gellert et al. (US Patent 5,658,604).

While the seal is not made of a carbide alloy, making the seal of such material would have been obvious since it reduces wear and corrosion and thus reduces down time since fewer worn parts need replacing.

Claims 6,7,13,14,18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gellert et al. as applied to claims 1-5, 8-12,15-17 above, and further in view of Ma et al. (US Patent 6,656,329).

While Gellert et al. does not use molybdenum as an intermediate layer or a laminate layer with the carbide alloy, Ma et al. discloses using molybdenum as a well known abrasion resistant laminate material. It would have been obvious to use molybdenum as a laminate material with carbide alloy since both are well known abrasion resistant materials without any undue experimentation absent any unexpected results.
